(Name)
Earns Advanced Certification from
The International Association of # Eating Disorders Professionals Foundation

---

(CITY, STATE – DATE) – (Name) recently earned the Certified Eating Disorder (specific title here, such as Specialist [for therapists and physicians], Registered Dietitian [for RD], Registered Nurse [for RN] or Creative Arts Therapist [for Dance/Movement, Music or Art Therapist]) designation from the International Association of Eating Disorders Professionals (iaedp) Foundation, after completing a rigorous set of criteria for the evaluation of education, training, knowledge and experience.

(Last Name) joins an elite group of professionals committed to excellence in the treatment of eating disorders with this certification. "Certification as an iaedp eating disorder specialist is evidence that both the professional (or Last Name) and iaedp are diligent in seeking advancement in training, education, research and competency to address the complexities involved in the treatment of eating disorders," says Tammy Beasley, RDN, CEDRD, CSSD, Director of iaedp Certification Committee.

(Last Name) currently serves as (current position or job). This certification allows (Last Name) to offer clients and patients the assurance and confidence that the highest standards of care will be provided throughout all stages of treatment.

Established in 1985, iaedp (http://www.iaedp.com) provides educational programs and training standards for eating disorder specialists and other medical professionals caring for those suffering from the full spectrum of disordered eating. The group offers the most widely respected certification process for specializing in eating disorder treatment.

---